

The background image shows a sophisticated lounge or bar area. In the center is a curved, illuminated bar with various bottles on shelves behind it. Several high-top stools are lined up at the bar. The room is furnished with plush, light-colored armchairs and sofas, some with patterned cushions. There are also round, low-profile coffee tables. The walls are made of dark wood panels, and the ceiling has a modern, geometric light fixture. The overall atmosphere is warm and contemporary.

oshibori®
C O N C E P T

In Japan, during tea house ceremonies, a piece of cloth was soaked in hot water and offered to travelers who stopped to rest. This piece of cloth was called an Oshibori.

Preserved over the centuries in Asia, the Oshibori is still the most popular gesture of welcome today. To simplify this welcoming gesture, the proposed clothing has become a simple wet cotton towel.

The story tells that the practice of Oshibori comes from an ancestral tradition : Families will offer to their guests wet clothes to cool them from Japanese heat. To simplify this gesture of welcome, the proposed clothing became a simple wet cotton towel. Offered nowadays on much less qualitative materials, Oshibori Concept decided to give Oshibori back its nobleness and make it a normed and a referenced cosmetic product.

The cotton industry truly expands in Europe in the seventeenth century, cotton is categorized as «luxury product».

When the cotton fiber is spun, it is woven to become a natural, practical and strong web.

In order to better adapt the Oshibori to the world of tomorrow, Oshibori Concept uses woven cotton.

Concerned about the respect of our planet, we wish to produce in a responsible and sustainable way.

Thus the Oshibori, unavoidable product, is made of natural fiber : 100% biodegradable cotton. Oshibori Concept participates in the collective effort and pay the ecological tax.

In addition, using an Oshibori contributes to save one of the precious resources of our planet : water. The Oshibori allows you to use only 25ml of water against 1.5l at the tap.
