oshibori®
CONCEPT

In Japan, during tea house ceremonies, a piece of cloth was soaked in hot water and offered to travelers who stopped to rest. This piece of cloth was called an Oshibori.

Preserved over the centuries in Asia, the Oshibori is still the most popular gesture of welcome today. To simplify this welcoming gesture, the proposed clothing has become a simple wet cotton towel.

The story tells that the practice of Oshibori comes from an ancestral tradition: Families will offer to their guests wet clothes to cool them from Japanese heat. To simplify this gesture of welcome, the proposed clothing became a simple wet cotton towel. Offered nowadays on much less qualitative materials, Oshibori Concept decided to give Oshibori back its nobleness and make it a normed and a referenced cosmetic product.

The cotton industry truly expands in Europe in the seventeenth century, cotton is categorized as «luxury product». When the cotton fiber is spun, it is woven to become a natural, practical and strong web. In order to better adapt the Oshibori to the world of tomorrow, Oshibori Concept uses woven cotton.

Concerned about the respect of our planet, we wish to produce in a responsible and sustainable way. Thus the Oshibori, unavoidable product, is made of natural fiber: 100% biodegradable cotton. Oshibori Concept participates in the collective effort and pays the ecological tax. In addition, using an Oshibori contributes to save one of the precious resources of our planet: water. The Oshibori allows you to use only 25ml of water against 1.5l at the tap.

WELL BEING

Unlike most cosmetic products, Oshibori Concept respects all skin natures. This is how our Oshibori provide a well-being sensation. Moreover, the waterproofing of the customizable packaging from Oshibori Concept towels, guarantee humidification for 24 months.

*Tested under dermatological control.
Evaluation of cutaneous and ocular safety.*

HOT OR COLD

Oshibori can be enjoyed either hot, cold or simply at room temperature. Indeed, our towels can be heated in their packaging for a few seconds in the microwave, hot cabi, oven or placed in the fridge a few hours before use.

OSEA

Beauty from ocean – Since 1996

OSEA was founded nearly three decades ago, but our story began over a century ago.

My grandmother Elsa was a great believer in the power of the sea. When she was 44 years old, Elsa had a terrible fall, injuring her leg and leaving her bedridden.

One night, a message came to her in a dream: The ocean will heal you. The next morning, she asked her husband to take her to the Long Island Sound and carry her into the water. She returned again the next day. And the next.

Elsa swam in the frigid waters every day for weeks, and the dream became a prophecy: Her leg healed. Borrowing from my grandmother's wisdom, I collected seaweed and started mixing my own formulas. That is how OSEA was born.

Today it's called clean beauty, but in our family, it is what it has always been: a simple idea that the ocean should be part of everyone's life – and the conviction that it already is.

The absolute power of honey

Everything done at Savannah Bee Co. is so bees can continue their sacred work of building hives, pollinating flowers, powering our food supply, and spreading beauty. Savannah Bee understands that climate change, pesticides, and other threats to the bees' fragile ecosystems also affect humanity, and they believe healthy bees make for a healthy planet. Saving the bees is the highest priority.

Savannah bee is committed to bringing customers the most delicious honey sourced from beekeepers around the world, most of whom they know by name.

The beekeepers share the passion for saving the bees, and each of their carefully-tended hives promotes a healthy bee population and a better environment.

With each jar of honey, bee-powered beauty product, and cultivated hive, we're working to save the bees. And with every purchase from Savannah Bee Co., you are too.

The Bee Cause Project

In 2013, we founded The Bee Cause Project to help Savannah Bee Company achieve their desired impact on the world of bees. The Bee Cause is a non-profit organization that works to engage students of all ages within their own environments through observation-based learning. The STEAM-based curriculum, educational beehives, and international network build learning opportunities in classrooms and communities, in order to inspire the next generation of environmental stewards.

Alongside The Bee Cause Project's sponsors, beekeepers, educators, and community members, the organization has provided Bee Grants to more than 730 schools and organizations, impacting thousands of children across the U.S., Canada, the Bahamas, and Puerto Rico. They continue to connect children to the natural world with the addition of educational pollinator programs in schools, libraries, community centers, and beyond.

• VISIONARY

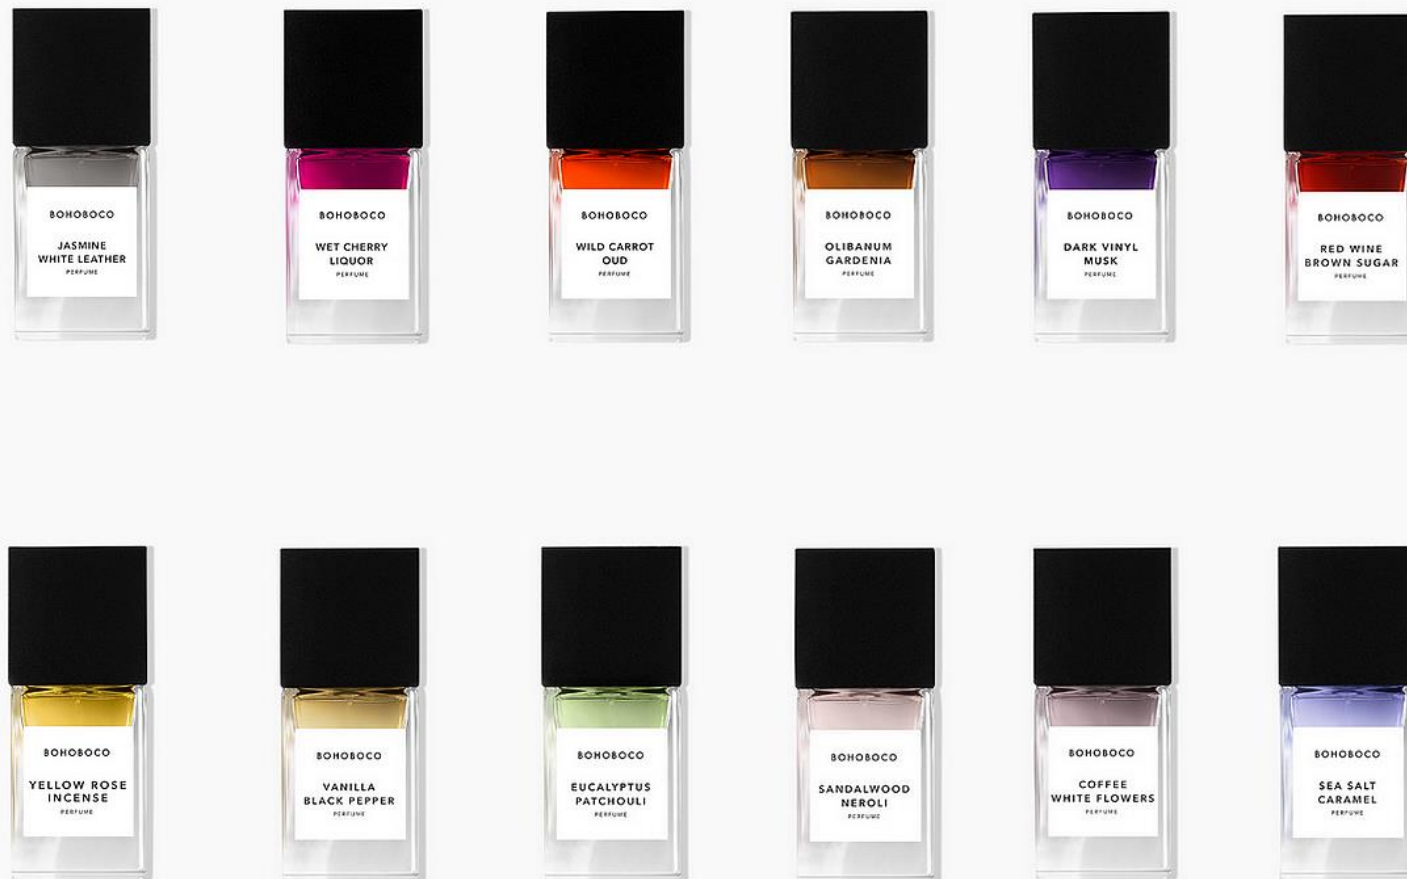

BOHOBOCO · PERFUME is a brand that was created from a childhood dream of Michal Gilbert Lach. From the beginning of his professional career, this visionary was associated with the beauty industry, and as a nearly thirty-two-year-old designer, he created the BOHOBOCO clothing brand, which conquered red carpets.

However, the design of women's clothing did not fully satisfy the artist, and the rigid frames that characterized the fashion market kept limiting his creativity. Michal achieved true fulfillment and creative freedom only while working on a perfume collection. He fell completely in love with creating them.

A new line has been created under the name of BOHOBOCO · PERFUME – based on the use of contrasting notes – inspired by ingredients that work both on emotions and sensations

The BOHOBOCO perfume series is unisex fragrance. Everybody can use our products and that does not depend on sex. We are gender-neutral everybody can identify with our compositions

Our brand also caters for people who care about animals life because we are cruelty-free as well as vegan. All our products are also dermatologically tested.

JULES & GEM
HAWAII

We are a Hawaiï lifestyle brand that handcrafts clean and natural hand-poured soy coconut wax candles along with other bath & body products. At Jules + Gem Hawaii, we pride ourselves on being locally handmade. All our products are made in small batches in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Our fragrances are blended to be perfectly balanced, and we carefully select our notes to best resemble our homegrown fruits and flowers—Guava Nectar smells exactly like freshly picked guava!

We hope you enjoy our products just as much as we do create them. Our goal is to help transform your space into a tropical escape, a place just for you, to relax and take time for your self. You are worth it.

Fresh Monster was born out of the belief that there shouldn't be so many tradeoffs when it comes to keeping kids clean. Natural products should work just as well as regular products. Safe products should be affordable. Kids products should be made just for kids, not borrowed from babies or adults.

That's why they created Fresh Monster. Affordable, natural hair and body care designed and formulated just for kids.

The founders met over a decade ago at Unilever and worked together to launch some of the biggest haircare and personal care brands in the country. Then they became moms and well, priorities changed. Together they launched Fresh Monster with the vision to make natural, safe personal care available to every family.
